#OTalk Question 1....

Emma Taylor @effnol

a day ago

I find it depends on if a clinician has an awareness of tech #otalk

Sazzle Willow @LadySarahW1

a day ago

Here for the #OTalk on assistive technology tonight.

will wade @willwade

@OT_south #OTalk q1. "Local" services (Community OT, SLT, Physio, Schools, Charities) may identify individuals who need some kind of eAT - but not always. Problem is awareness of both whats possible - and their role (e.g. SLT/OTs being aware). The next prob is where they turn to

♥🇯🇲 Sherlyn 🇬🇧♥ @sherlynmelody

@OT_south #otalk we have recently had some folks on a pilot. Sensors in homes help to monitor movement around the home. On doors, cupboards fridge. Something similar to just checking. I've not personally had a client with this but heard about it.

Melanie Burrough @MelanieBurrough

@OT_south Like to start with a good 'PEO' approach, this leads to thinking about physical environment, access points, what occupation need, want and has to do #OTalk

will wade @willwade

@sherlynmelody @OT_south #OTalk - is that part of a wider research program? For a particular client Group? Sounds interesting

♥🇯🇲 Sherlyn 🇬🇧♥ @sherlynmelody

a day ago

@effnol #otalk that's very true. I'm late to the tech party never knew the use of Alexa till I met a lady with Parkinson who spoke to Alexa telling her to do things around the house.

Sharon Tuppeny @sharontuppenyot

We're very lucky @Childrens_Trust to have an in house MDT for AT so assessments and use of AT during rehab & at school is growing all of the time but do find challenges in getting provision for d/c #OTalk

@OT_south A1. Me will be geriatrics. I have occasionally seen people with such AT's in nursing home settings, but not too common. #otalk

a day ago

@OT_south I work with autistic children. I identify their EAT needs when I do the initial Interview. This may include using EAT to support communication, using apps to increase independence in ADL, etc #OTalk

Jen Scott @jsco100

@OTalk_ There's a definite lack of awareness of what is possible and what equipment is out there, so I agree I don't think it always does get identified #otalk

will wade @willwade

a day ago

@MelanieBurrough @OT_south Nice. "What" someone "wants" to do is the essence - often amazingly overlooked - in place of what is assumed they want to do #OTalk

a day ago

@OT_south Not sure if that count as EAT?? #OTalk

Lorna Wales @WalesLorna

a day ago

@OTalk_ Is it always a professional who spots the need or is it sometimes families who comes and asks? #OTalk

Lucy Leonard @LucyOTL

@OTalk_ It's essential to find out the client/therapy goals and find which tech can best fit. But knowledge in this area is essential. Tech is changing so quickly. #otalk

Craig @dyspraxicot

@OT_south I'm in the private sector for one off assessments. I don't perssy prescribe equipment. I was using specific things when I worked in the wheelchair service for over 9 years. #OTalk

Sharon Tuppeny @sharontuppenyot

a day ago

@willwade @OT_south #otalk I guess it could help with research. As I think other countries use it more. I think it helps with reducing costs, hospital admissions, tracking people's movements. Toilet use (UTI's) eating or not, leaving the home. Falls- if someone is not moving around the house - why?

Bill Wong, OTD, OTR/L @BillWongOT

@WalesLorna @OTalk_ Great point. Probably more often than is admitted - the family and environment supporting the individual identifying the needs. But maybe not such a bad thing - how we identify motivation is about a team effort. Partic with this client group #OTalk A1.

@willwade @OT_south What would help this lack of awareness of what is possible #otalk? I thought some of the stories/ examples @Comm_Matters study day on topic were really powerful but we need to extend audience This is field where people don't know what they don't know.

Sharon Tuppeny @sharontuppenyot

Melanie Burrough @MelanieBurrough

@93SophieC @OT_south Same @93SophieC we are sometimes limited by knowledge of what may be out there but also what is meaningful for the individual rather than thinking about latest technology on the market #OTalk

a day ago

@93SophieC what made that client stand out as needing AT as a priority for you @93SophieC #OTalk

Georgia Vine @GeorgiaVineOT

@OT_south It's only because I've had an EAT placement that I'm aware I definitely think there needs to be more awareness. #OTalk

Lois Cameron @Lois_Cameron

#OTalk I might have missed it, as I'm v late! Did we clarify what we mean by 'assistive technology'. In my experience it means different things to different people

Online services are disadvantaging older people, blocking access to services! #southwarkcouncil won't collect furniture without online payment #TSB won't authorise the payment as unusual action unless a passcode sent to mobile phone! My pt doesn't have 1 #inclusivesociety #OTalk

@OT_south Working outside of the UK (no NHS) our biggest problem is lack of funding to buy and maintain EAT, lack of providers to actually assess with the student, and also lack of commitment from staff #OTalk
