Carolina Cordero 🌈 @colourful_ot

4 months ago

@BillWongOT @Alannah_OT Looking at the statistics of how common it is I wouldn't be so sure 😞 <https://t.co/w0wWYnk6wx> I think you're right about it not being included in histories though, whether that's because people don't want to talk about it or don't consider what happened to them to be DV #OTalk

@OTalk_ @Alannah_OT Hi all, i'm an OT student at St George's London. Looking forward to being part of my first #OTalk

Alannah Marie 🌸 @Alannah_OT

4 months ago

@colourful_ot How do you find working with both survivors and perpetrators? #otalk

Bill Wong, OTD, OTR/L @BillWongOT

4 months ago

@Alannah_OT One will be social confidence in pursuing romantic relationships. For example, some female domestic abuse patients might have difficulties trusting men after getting abused from their male family members. #otalk

Bill Wong, OTD, OTR/L @BillWongOT

4 months ago

@Alannah_OT @SadieBlueOT Another one- sometimes kids will be very hesitant to show their teachers that they are being abused. #otalk

Susan Griffiths @SusanGriffiths5

4 months ago

@Alannah_OT Depends on the individual but potentially any occupation can be disrupted - in my current post I have seen children who developed sleeping difficulties, eating problems, poor academic performance, poor socialisation, etc #otalk

Alannah Marie 🌸 @Alannah_OT

4 months ago

@SophieMaynard8 What is your experience with how it is handled? #otalk

Mich Maughan @MichMaughan

4 months ago

@OTalk_ #oTalk I would say low self esteem and post traumatic trauma play a large part in occupational disruption

Sophie Maynard @SophieMaynard8

4 months ago

@Alannah_OT Access to healthcare can be extremely difficult with detrimental effects #OTalk

Olivia Pearce @OTOPearce

@Alannah_OT #otalk for the service users I had the pleasure of working with, they recognised DV as a trigger for a decline in their mental health so disruptions were vast and varied including relationships, roles, self-care, leisure, productivity to name a few

@colourful_ot @Alannah_OT or in the nursing home setting... cognition to recognize they are/have been abused is another factor. #otalk

Verity @VeriOTy__

4 months ago

@Alannah_OT #otalk the list feels endless! Removing choice, destruction of self esteem leads into someone feeling they are unable to participate, not engaging in social events, not engaging with support networks.

4 months ago

@Alannah_OT I think because it's not the main focus of my work I find that it doesn't define how I work with people; however in both cases it means that I'm careful about how I talk about romantic relationships, because I know that it can be a really complicated and triggering subject #OTalk

Carolina Cordero 🌈 @colourful_ot

4 months ago

@BillWongOT @Alannah_OT Absolutely, and then that factors into the issue of elder abuse as well #OTalk

Rachel OT @_rachelOT

4 months ago

@Alannah_OT So many! Environmentally people may be moved to different areas & experience significant social isolation, they may restrict the public places they visit & home occupations may be interrupted due to 'symptoms' of trauma (ie trouble focusing, hypervigilance, disassociation) #otalk

Georgia Vine @GeorgiaVineOT

4 months ago

@Alannah_OT Confidence to even carry out the occupations? #OTalk

Sadie Blue @SadieBlueOT

4 months ago

@Alannah_OT DV can impact on all ADLs - a trauma response triggered can impact on any activity. I've known children who can't learn at school because their male teacher standing behind them in the classroom paralyses them with fear. #OTalk

Verity @VeriOTy__

4 months ago

@SusanGriffiths5 @Alannah_OT #otalk some children do the opposite and become high achievers and stay at school late, get to school early (so they're not in the house) as they may feel that poor grades etc may antagonise which makes DA hard to spot as it's viewed as a positive behaviour

Bill Wong, OTD, OTR/L @BillWongOT

4 months ago

@colourful_ot @Alannah_OT Speaking of that, a nursing home got into trouble for this. Nursing assistant was doing IG live showing she and her crew were eating pizza. Q3. #otalk What do you think the occupational therapy role can provide for survivors or people who are currently experiencing domestic violence?

Bill Wong, OTD, OTR/L @BillWongOT

Susan Griffiths @SusanGriffiths5

@Alannah_OT I don't provide any support if the child is still living in a household with DV. If child is in a safe place then often the main support I provide is sensory regulation strategies #OTalk

Olivia Pearce @OTOPearce

4 months ago

@Alannah_OT #otalk (p2) I spoke to safeguarding when I felt uneasy about statements the service user had made, in terms of interventions for occupations I tried to re-engage them with activities they most enjoyed and graded up to the ones with the biggest fear response

Sadie Blue @SadieBlueOT

4 months ago

@Alannah_OT My current role with young people is more around taking away that blame and shame they feel (maybe if I xyz then this wouldn't have happened), the child understanding that it's not their fault and they absolutely did not deserve that #OTalk

Verity @VeriOTy__

@BillWongOT @SusanGriffiths5 @Alannah_OT #otalk definitely, the main lesson I learnt was that anyone and everyone can be someone who experiences abuse and so you can never say "that person doesn't fit XYZ idea so they can't be abused" and it was the thing I'd always be strong on whenever I delivered training to schools
