@gscottOTS @AdamJacksonOT @OTalk_ seems like if we are in the era of staying at home/social distancing, we will need to adapt what we can prescribe. Social Prescribing acts as an adjunct to occupational therapy. Often community teams need to focus on essential rehab needs (the basics, eating, washing, toileting, accessing the community etc), we don't always have capacity to focus on the social needs/ leisure activities #OTalk

@RebeccaCrouch @kayleighbainOT @AdamJacksonOT @OTalk_ Very much the case - They come with all labels in their role names ; however in they do a good job of promoting those core values we hold very important as OT's. #OTalk

@RebeccaCrouch @ruthotlife @otalk That's a great idea! I used to work at a GP practice. Other professions (and lots of drug reps) would book lunches to talk and educate GPs. Never did I see an OT do it. #otalk

@AdamJacksonOT @OTalk_ #OTalk It would be nice to see it as an opportunity to have additional resources to work with & spread the word about what OT does and the value we add. Ultimately we should be aiming to improve the lives of our patients / clients and any help towards that will hopefully be good
