Some reasons I love #OTalk. 1. Learning. This is my top reason. The learning can be about use of social media, a specific topic relevant to my areas of interest within #OccupationalTherapy or something I've not known about before. I love learning & #OTalk provides it regularly.

Ruth Hawley @Ruth_Hawley

3 days ago

2. Community. For me, I feel #OTalk has played a significant role in my experience of and feeling part of the #OTtwitter community.

Ruth Hawley @Ruth_Hawley

3 days ago

3. Connections. Closely linked with community is the chance to connect with others both on and off line. #OTalk has definitely given me opportunities to do this so far and I'm expecting more to come in the future.

Ruth Hawley @Ruth_Hawley

3 days ago

4. Diversity. Diversity of topic, diversity of opinions and diversity of lived experiences within the #OTalk team. Diversity and inclusivity are rightly key topics within our #OccupationalTherapy profession currently. Diversity can always be grown more.

Ruth Hawley @Ruth_Hawley

We should never look or sound like an echo chamber & this is easy to do, particularly on twitter. So if you'd like to increase the range of our diversity in views shared, in our chat topics or our team please participate in/host an #OTalk or apply to #BecomeAnOTalkTeamMember.

@OTalk I think it was recommended to us on induction week in Jan 2020 @GcuOcc by @laurahallOT. I lurk now and again and occasionally engage with the chatter but mostly catch up later in the week and see what everyone's been saying. Hoping to become more active in the future. #OTalk

As part of a successful bid. We employed an OT to work within Age UK. This provides people with access to specialist mental health OTs. To prevent further deterioration by proving early access to therapy. Prevention is better than cure! #OTalk #OTday #BelongBeYou @TEWV @RCOT_MH
