Georgia Vine @GeorgiaVineOT
@AbleOTUK @OTalk_ I am really aware of intersectionality, more so since the affinity groups and doing the empowered practice talks a uni. It means a great deal as someone who has more than one protected characteristic and I wish it was talked about more #OTalk

#OTalk @OTalk_

@GeorgiaVineOT @AbleOTUK @OTalk_ I was aware of it before I knew there was a term for it; I only came across the term through the affinity groups also

Wendy Bryant @DrWMB
@drlisataylor @preston_jenny I heard about it around 10 years ago when I was editing 5th edition of Creek's Occupational Therapy & Mental Health. We decided to replace culture chapter with intersectionality one as we thought it so important. #OTalk

AbleOTUK @AbleOTUK
@preston_jenny @DrWMB That's really interesting given its been about since 1989 within research an educational setting at least, I wonder why it has taken to become more understood. #OTalk

Ed Sum Occupational Therapist 🇧🇪🇬🇪🇬🇪 @musedNeuroOT

@GeorgiaVineOT @AbleOTUK @OTalk I have since used the term in some sessions with occupational therapy and physiotherapy students #OTalk

Georgia Vine @GeorgiaVineOT

@musedNeuroOT @AbleOTUK @OTalk Yes, I feel the same I read a book about this a while back based on someone's experiences and this term wasn't mentioned once #OTalk

Katie Moffat @Katie_Moffat

@AbleOTUK @OTalk It was something I was aware of in my own thinking, but I didn't realise there was a term for it until a few years ago. It's really important I'm aware of it and challenging it in my own practice and conversations I am having. #OTalk

Dr Jenny Preston MBE @preston_jenny

Sounds like there is still much work to be done to help many of us not only understand the term but also to positively engage with this as part of our practice

Wendy Bryant @DrWMB

@AbleOTUK @preston_jenny I wonder if it's because there was a focus on cultural competency which focused on single identities. Understandings of diversity are now diversifying, so to speak #OTalk

AbleOTUK @AbleOTUK

Question 2 #OTalk @OTalk <https://t.co/yoQaEN2Mxa>

Dr Jenny Preston MBE @preston_jenny

RT @DrWMB: @AbleOTUK @preston_jenny I wonder if it's because there was a focus on cultural competency which focused on single identities. Understandings of diversity are now diversifying, so to speak #OTalk

Georgia Vine @GeorgiaVineOT

@DrWMB @musedNeuroOT @AbleOTUK @OTalk I completely agree Wendy it's interesting to know the history and truly understand the unfortunate complexities that comes with this. #OTalk

Amanda White @ajciliaOT

@AbleOTUK @OTalk Q1. It took 26years from conception for it appear in the Oxford dictionary! #OTalk

AbleOTUK @AbleOTUK

Wow that's really interesting Wendy, Will have to go back to the text books and read up. When researching for this blog. (mostly on line) We found little link between diversity and #intersectionality. An area for research maybe? #OTalk

Wendy Bryant @DrWMB

@musedNeuroOT @GeorgiaVineOT @AbleOTUK @OTalk I'm so pleased to hear that: it feels so important to me if we are going to be serious about "holistic" practice

Ed Sum Occupational Therapist 🇧🇪🇬🇪🇬🇪 @musedNeuroOT

@preston_jenny And how it helps us we can recognise and address health inequalities #OTalk

#OTalk @OTalk

#OTalk Question 2

Dr Jenny Preston MBE @preston_jenny

Very good point @musedNeuroOT #OTalk

Katie Moffat @Katie_Moffat

@GeorgiaVineOT @AbleOTUK @OTalk Empowered practice talks sound very interesting @GeorgiaVineOT ! I also wish it was talked about more and more too. Very grateful for all the learning I've had from the twitter communities! #OTalk

Georgia Vine @GeorgiaVineOT

@musedNeuroOT @AbleOTUK @OTalk We did a whole occupational profile of a community for one module at uni and this term was never mentioned and feel like it should have been #OTalk

AbleOTUK @AbleOTUK

Interesting! I find myself asking what does that say about bias within society? #OTalk

Wendy Bryant @DrWMB

@AbleOTUK yes: I'd say the new version of the chapter in the 6th edition will be even more tailored to occupational therapy. The authors are a sociologist and a user/activist, they saw connections with occupational justice straightaway #OTalk

Georgia Vine @GeorgiaVineOT

@DrWMB @musedNeuroOT @AbleOTUK @OTalk_ Yes, this is certainly needed in mandatory training #OTalk

@musedNeuroOT @RosFrench1 #otalk 🤔🤔 now you've fully lost me 🙄

Amanda White @ajciliaOT

RT @chaniedavies: @OT_rach @ajciliaOT @AbleOTUK Was just going to say same...had considered inequalities but not the term or how different layers of marginalised identity components affect treatment... my narrow previous mind is opened a lot...think we are far from getting it right and I commit to doing bett

RT @ABraunizer: @DisruptOT @rachelineson @CathTurner7 @SunderlandOT @PanziUSA Re: @DisruptOT @rachelineson @CathTurner7 @Sunderland @PanziUSA Re: #OTalk tonight, it has expanded my understanding of 'intersectionality' & how it relates to care work, design, access, community, & knowled sharing/seeking. It is a book I re-read (audio or paper), especially when I notice myself starting to become more rigid or closed.

RT @BAMEOTUK: @AbleOTUK @OTalk_ Intersectionality is not just about intersecting identities, it is a term from critical legal studies by Kimberlé Crensha how intersecting identities can disadvantage a person causing them to be discriminated #OTalk

RT @ABraunizer: @AbleOTUK @OTalk_ I have witnessed discrimination on the basis of racism, colonialism, history of/ongoing substance use, houselessness illness, disability, expressed gender identity, body size, and expressed sexuality. In care work and in the design & decor of healthcare spaces. #OTalk

RT @GeorgiaVineOT: @AbleOTUK @OTalk_ I am really aware of intersectionality, more so since the affinity groups and doing the empowered practice talks means a great deal to me as someone who has more than one protected characteristic and I wish it was talked about more #OTalk

Just pre-recorded @DrWMB talk for next week. It's good. Come join us for the talk and the resulting panel discussion.

Wendy Bryant @DrWMB

@TashaLaming @AbleOTUK @theRCOT #OTalk has happened, but you can still sign up for our session next Wednesday. I recorded the talk in preparation
